Name: Michael Jones
Occupation: Father/Military Reservist/Law Enforcement

As a homeowner raising two daughters in this district, a military reservist, and a local coach, I look at our schools through the lens of family and service. My kids are growing up here; like you, my focus is on their future.

My civilian career in law enforcement and public safety has taught me how to manage critical security issues and keep people safe daily. I believe a great school system supports families; it doesn't replace them. The classroom should be a place of shared focus on foundational learning. When we prioritize math, science, and literacy, we keep our schools focused on student achievement.

Whether you have children in our schools or are a resident watching your budget, strong, efficient schools protect property values and keep our community safe.

True public service means being a strict steward of your hard-earned money. We must maximize existing resources by prioritizing classrooms and student needs above administrative bureaucracy. Our kids deserve elite educational results, and our community deserves financial accountability and transparent spending.

I am running for school board to unite our community around a top-tier, common-sense approach that fully supports our teachers and puts student education and safety first.
